

THE ENGINEERS

Say That Their Demands
Are Just

NEW YORK, March 26.—The demands of the engineers on the 50 railroads east of Chicago and north of the Norfolk & Western railroad, having been refused and the committee of the engineers and trainmen not indicating any retreat from their position, have today made today to submit the matter to a referendum vote of the engineers in order to determine what policy should be pursued.

There has been no talk of a strike held in the Grand Central Station of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers and that many things could happen before a strike took place.

"We are not talking of a strike," said Chief Stone. "We are a long way from a strike. I am not talking of a strike because I do not believe in strikes if they can be avoided. We believe our demands are just and right. If we did not we would not have made them."

It was held a two-thirds vote of all the locomotive engineers involved to declare a strike if a strike were declared. There are reports that mediation under the Erdman act might be resorted to in case of a crisis.

A SHARP
WARNING

Nervous Exhaustion Is Notice to
Relieve the Strain and Build
Up the Starved Nerves.

Nervous exhaustion, or breakdown of the nerves, is more often a blessing than anything else. The nerves have rebelled and you should be thankful it is no worse than it is. Let it serve as a sharp warning to relieve the strain and to take a treatment that will build up your nerves.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a real nerve tonic. They supply plenty of nourishing red blood to the exhausted nerves and do not excite and urge them on to do work which they have already shown they cannot do. Medicines which whip on the tired nerves do more harm than no medicine at all. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People not only start in immediately to give relief but continue to strengthen the nerves until they are able to do their work once more.

Mrs. H. G. Williams, of No. 112 North Franklin street, Saginaw, Mich., says: "Nervousness in my case was doubtless due to worry and overwork. I merely felt tired out, weak, restless and nervous. Nervous spells came on me whenever I had any extra strain. There were no additional symptoms in my case but as I was conducting my store all alone and there was considerable detail connected with it, it is not to be wondered at that I was nervous. An old lady friend, who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People with good results in her family, told me to try them for nervousness. I did so. My nerves became healthier and I was cured. I can recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People as a splendid nerve tonic. I have used them for years whenever run down and found they gave me immediate relief."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are guaranteed to be free from any harmful or habit-forming drugs. They have given the most gratifying results in nervous headache, neuralgia, nervous dyspepsia, St. Vitus' dance, and even in partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia. For a full statement of this treatment write for the free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 20 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

SALEM BOY ACCUSED DUNNIGAN WON OUT LYNN STRIKERS WIN

He is Charged With Attempted Murder at Ipswich
Was Re-elected Assessor
Six Manufacturers Grant the Demands of the Operatives

MARBLEHEAD, March 26.—Ernest Brechtelle, the 18-year-old Salem boy wanted in that city for attempted murder and highway robbery, who was captured yesterday in the cottage of John Haley at Lynn Cove, was last night charged with being one of the two robbers who killed the exclusive Appleton circus section of Ipswich.

A check and opera glasses found on him were identified as a part of the loot taken from the palatial summer home at Ipswich of Francis Appleton of New York.

His alleged partner and the team which they are supposed to have used in the various robberies have disappeared.

Granville first started as a fugitive from justice on Dec. 10 of last year, when he kidnapped the life of James H. Hays, secretary of the Frothingham Leather company of Salem. He is charged to have fired a shot at him, following an altercation, and missed.

MAKING UP.

—Minor in St. Louis Post-Dispatch.

As was stated in yesterday's paper, there were only two contests for town officers at the annual meeting of the town of Chelmsford yesterday. These contests were for assessor and constable. In these contests there was great interest. For assessor James P. Dunnigan won over Edwin A. Blaisdell by a vote of 250 to 124. In the contest Mr. Dunnigan was defeated and he did not run on nomination papers. He is at present a member of the board of assessors and has a distinguished record while in the office. He received a fine endorsement yesterday and as the election is for three years it was a remarkable victory for him. In the other contest, Hubert H. Richardson, the regular nominee, defeated Joseph T. Fallon who ran on nomination papers.

The complete list of the town officers and the voters each received is as follows: Town clerk for three years, no contest, Edward J. Robbins, 92; selectman for three years, no contest, Dr. Frank Smith, 330; selectman for two years, Walter B. Johnson, 274; selectman for one year, Charles E. Jones, 339; overseers of the poor, the selectmen named above; assessor for three years, James P. Dunnigan, nomination papers, elected with 250 over the regular nominee, Edwin A. Blaisdell, who received 124; town treasurer and collector, no contest, Evelyn W. Sweetman, 336; school committee for three years, no contest, William H. Hall, 375; trustees of Adams library, three years, no contest, Albert H. Davis, 325; A. Brady Park, 313; constable for one year, Hubert H. Richardson, who defeated Joseph T. Fallon, 278 to 165; tree warden, Minot A. Bean, 312; cemetery commissioner, Charles F. Scribner; sliding land commissioner, William H. Shedd, 323; park commissioner, 331; three au-

ENDS DYSPEPSIA
IN FEW MINUTES

Gas, Indigestion and All
Stomach Misery
Goes

There would not be a case of indigestion here if everyone who is subject to stomach trouble knew the tremendous anti-acid and digestive strength contained in Borden's Malted Milk. This harmless preparation will digest a heavy meal without the slightest gas or discomfort, and relieve the urgent acid stomach in five minutes, besides overcoming all food nauseas and other troubles of the digestive tract.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula plainly printed on each 50-cent can of Borden's Malted Milk. Then you will readily understand why this promptly cures indigestion and removes acid symptoms as heartburn, a feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, belching of gas and eructations of undigested food, water brash, nausea, heartburn, flatulence, and many other bad symptoms; and besides, you will not need laxatives to keep your stomach, liver and intestines clean and fresh.

If your stomach is sour and full of gas, or your food doesn't digest, and your meals don't seem to fit, why not get a 50-cent can of Borden's Malted Milk? Absolute relief from stomach misery and perfect digestion of anything you eat is more to follow five minutes after, and, besides, one 50-cent can is sufficient to cure a whole family of such trouble.

Surely, a harmless, inexpensive preparation like Borden's Malted Milk, which will always, either at daytime or during the night, relieve your stomach misery and direct your mind to about as happy and valuable a thing as you could have in the home.

Re-elected Assessor.

The most important matter in the warrant was the appropriation. The estimates were cut considerably. The total cut of the day was $11,500 and this is estimated will reduce the tax rate $2.50 a thousand. Other important articles were discussed and at 6 o'clock the meeting was over.

SENT TO PRISON

COUNTERFEITER GIVEN TWO
YEAR'S SENTENCE

BOSTON, March 26.—Charles Francis, alias Brian Lepper, was sentenced to two years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta by Judge Dodge in the United States district court yesterday for passing four counterfeit bills, which he had raised from $1 to $20.

Francis had just been released from the federal penitentiary at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., where he was sentenced to two years for a similar offense when he was taken into custody and brought to Boston to answer to an indictment which has been pending against him here since March, 1910. There is also an indictment pending against him in Baltimore.

He has been arrested six times for counterfeiting, and has served five years in Atlanta, two at 1011 and two at Detroit.

TOSCANI HELD

HE IS CHARGED WITH SHOOTING
NATALIE CUPANA

WORCESTER, March 26.—Natalie Cupana, aged 22, is in the City hospital seriously wounded with a bullet somewhere in his body, and James Toscani, aged 21, is under arrest as the result of a shooting scrape in McFarland court early yesterday morning.

The men had been visiting in the home of Peter Horn, when they got into an altercation and it is charged that Toscani pulled a revolver and fired at Cupana, sending a bullet into his body. He was removed to the hospital, but the bullet has not been located.

The police, acting on a story by Cupana and witnesses of the shooting, located Toscani under a bed in the house at 33 Bloomingdale road and he was arraigned in the district court later in the day on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Judge Tully continued the case until April 1 and placed Toscani under $100 bonds pending the condition of Cupana.

CITY HALL NOTES

"I see that the street commissioner is trying to hold up your pay," said a reporter to Secretary Egan today.

"So I see by the papers," replied Mr. Egan.

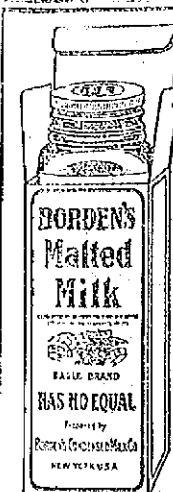

"What's the reason?" asked the scribe.

"Search me," was the answer.

"There must be a reason," ventured the scribe.

"Perhaps he envies me drawing mine personally," replied the secretary.

City Messenger Monahan has an "added attraction" to his job, as the theatrical press agents would say. Unconsciously he will deliver letters for the street commissioner as well as for the mayor, as the street commissioner called him in for that purpose yesterday, incidentally informing him that the mayor was only a commissioner like the rest of them. One of Mr. Monahan's first jobs was to deliver a note to the city solicitor's office, which is next door to the street commissioners. Presumably the "secretaries" in the commissioner's office were too arduously engaged at the time.

PALMIST ARRESTED

Was Charged With Larceny From Patrolman Cooney

John R. Veno, an alleged sleight-of-hand artist and prestidigitator, was arrested before Judge J. Dickman in police court this morning on a charge of larceny of 50 cents, the property of Alfred J. Cooney, a member of the police department. The defendant entered a plea of guilty and, after being found guilty, was fined $2.

From the testimony offered Patrolman Cooney was in a clubroom, he being a member of the club, and the defendant entered the place and started to show some card tricks. The witness was good to say the least and was appreciated by the members present, but subsequently Veno stated he was a palmist and would like to read the palms of the different persons. All were willing but when he said that it would cost $2 to do it they said "Nothing doing." He then reduced the price to $1 and once again the men refused to produce the money. After some talk he said he would read a palm for 50 cents and then Mr. Cooney produced a half dollar and the alleged hand-steerer told Mr. Cooney that he would live to the age of 103 years, that he was married and had six children.

When the money was turned over, Veno palmed it in his left hand and placed it in his left pocket. He said to Mr. Cooney, "The spirits are with me and the money has gone to the old world."

Proof conclusive was sufficient for Patrolman Cooney and he placed the defendant under arrest and when Veno was searched at the police station the half dollar was found in the left outer pocket of his overcoat.

During the course of his conversation Veno told the police that he had participated in several acts which had taken place on the South common in this city, one of them being the K-K-K act. He also said that he had traveled with several circuses and came to this city to see a friend who was running a theatrical place.

The testimony which he offered was rather interesting but the court found the man guilty and ordered a fine of $2 to be imposed.

Illegal Keeping

Joseph E. Carr was charged with the illegal keeping of liquor in the town of Billerica. A plea of guilty was entered and the defendant was fined $20 from which sentence he appealed.

Drunken Offenders

Martin Kierce, who was on parole from the state farm, will be returned to Bridgewater. Thomas Toddy was given a sentence of two months in jail. John I. Randall was sentenced to four months in jail.

Maxim P. O'Leary and Andrew McGovern were each fined $5.

There were two other offenders who were fined $2 each and several simple drunks were released before appearing in court.

Arrested in Billerica

Albert J. Viles was one of the persons in the jail this morning and although he admitted that he was under the weather he wanted to have a chance. He was a chance to pay $2 and when the money was not forthcoming Mr. Viles was given another ride in the house.

Samuel L. Brown was sentenced to the state farm and appealed.

Jack and Jill went up the hill to get a pail of water,
For Jill to wash her Dolly's clothes, as Anty Drudge had taught her,
"Rub with Fels-Naptha soap and put them in,
They'll be as white and as clean as a new pin."

What time on washday do you get through with your washing?

Ten o'clock, noon, three o'clock or night?

If you do it the old-fashioned, boiling, hot water, hard rubbing way, you're lucky to get it done by sundown.

If you wash the Fels-Naptha way in cool or lukewarm water without boiling or hard rubbing, you can be done well before noon and take it easy all the time.

And your clothes will be cleaner, fresher, sweeter than ever before.

Fels-Naptha Soap is a great time-saver. In Winter and Summer.

A half-day every washday means twenty-six days a year saved by washing with Fels-Naptha Soap.

Isn't that worth while in addition to the saving on clothes, fuel, health and labor?

Time is money.

Use Fels-Naptha Soap every washday and save it.

Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

COTTON MILLS CLOSED

The willingness of certain parties to quit work at the behest of non-resident agitators has forced most of the cotton mills to shut down until such time as the operatives show a desire to remain at work.

With the operatives all it is to be hoped that they will avoid everything in the nature of violence or disorder. It is hoped also that the operatives may secure their demands if the mills can afford to grant them; but all concerned will lose heavily by this suspension of business.

It would seem that there is a lot of strike sentiment in the air in this city. Men who have no interest in our city or its industries are trying to make a general strike regardless of the consequences. Those who have already quit work did so hastily and without presenting their grievances to the mill officials. The textile unions, we understand, have thus far nothing to do with the strike. It is not their custom to strike first and negotiate afterwards. The strike should be the last resort after peaceful means have been exhausted. It should be understood that if any class of mill employees choose to strike they are exercising their rights, but if any other class wishes to remain at work they have the right to do so and should not be interfered with any more than those on strike. The police, we understand, are determined to protect the rights of all concerned—the strikers and those who remain at work as well as the mills and the men responsible for their safety and management. Let it be understood that Lowell will not be turned into a hot bed of anarchy by revolutionary leaders. The mill operatives are not ready to lend themselves to any such tactics. Everybody wants the operatives to get as good pay as possible, and it should be arranged that the maximum increase would go to those who have the minimum wage in order if possible that the wages of every operative employed in the mills may be sufficient as to afford the recipients a comfortable living.

OPEN AIR SCHOOLS

The city of Boston is making some valuable experiments with open air schools. It is claimed that as a result of free ventilation in the school rooms where the experiment has been tried, some of the children who showed tuberculous tendencies were completely cured. There can be no doubt whatever of the advantages of fresh air in the school room, the only difficulty being to have it in abundance without any draughts on the heads of the children. There is one consideration very important in regard to school buildings, and that is the cubic air space allowed for each child. In some school buildings the air space is not nearly as great as it should be. The reason usually is, that schools are overcrowded.

If this experiment only brings about a clearer conviction of the importance of fresh air at all times in the school room, it will have accomplished good results. It will moreover teach the children the importance of ventilation not only in the schools but in their homes and wherever they may be employed.

CELEBRATING THE VICTORY

Let us hope that the city of Lawrence will find that it has been vastly benefited by the great mill strike. There is to be a demonstration over the "great victory" won, but while the operatives may celebrate, the municipality has suffered irreparable loss and injury. The citizens who have a real interest in Lawrence and who regard it as their permanent abode are not rejoicing. They are rather wondering whether the city will overcome the shock and rise triumphant over the extraneous elements of revolution and disorder that asserted themselves there for the past few months.

THE NEW CAMBRIDGE TUNNEL

The city of Cambridge will be greatly benefited by the opening of the subway connecting Boston with Harvard square. The cost of this subway was over $10,000,000. This has been one of the most expensive subways constructed from Boston proper and it will be one of the most heavily patronized. It will be a great boon to the city of Cambridge as well as to Boston. It will be particularly convenient to the students and faculty of Harvard university as it will land them in the precincts of the college in about eight minutes from Park square.

THE LAST OF THE MAINE

The tragedy of the battleship Maine and all the investigations and rumors in connection therewith are a matter of history. The battleship was destroyed on February 15, 1898; the framework of the hull was found at sea a little over a week ago, and the bones of the victims solemnly laid at rest in Arlington cemetery in Washington, March 23, 1912. The real cause of the destruction of the Maine has not been determined beyond the fact that the explosion was external, apparently from a mine placed in the harbor floor or by whom is still a mystery.

The cities of Massachusetts are still favorably inclined towards the commission form of charter, and there is no reason why they should feel otherwise. When we shall have lived under the commission charter for a year or so we shall be able to speak authoritatively on the subject. Thus far it seems to be working fairly well but whether good or ill the charter and the men elected under it reflect the will of the people.

In a short time every state in this union will have a law similar to the Canadian law for the settlement of industrial disputes, before, not after the strike has been resorted to. The state of Massachusetts will probably be a leader in this direction, thus setting an example worthy of emulation by other states for the preservation of industrial peace.

Bonds of health have often advised boiling drinking water before using, but in Baltimore physicians have advised users of milk to boil it as a precaution against an epidemic of sore throat resembling tonsillitis, due to a specific germ found in milk. So far as known that disease has not appeared in this vicinity.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS IN ENGLAND

SEEN AND HEARD

It is as easy to draw back a stone thrown with force from the hand as to lead a word once spoken.

We all can do better than get we have done.

And not be a whit the poorer.

It has been saying that emptied the heart.

No giving that emptied the purse.

No one is useless in this world who lightens the burden of it for anyone else.

Take things by their smooth handle.

I once heard it said at a grumbling, unthankful person, the world have made an immensely fine sour apple if it had happened to be born in that station of life.

Birds sometimes make extensive migrations, even if they were of a species not commonly met.

Practical birds are now southward from the north, and are now over the city of Lowell, Mass. in great flocks, thousands of them lighting in the city.

HON. JOHN T. SPARKS

Writes Interesting Letter
From Hot Springs

Hon. John T. Sparks, of this city, who is a member of the Lowell party with the Boston Red Sox at Hot Springs, writes that he is greatly enjoying his trip. He is staying at the Eastman hotel, telling of the many ball players in telling of the history. Mr. Sparks says: "At the hotel there are the Red Sox, Philadelphia and New York teams. The Philadelphia nationals are staying at the Majestic. The Eastman is a great hotel and it is taxed to its capacity at the present time."

He further says: "This is a great place. The population of the place is 20,000 but 150,000 people visit here annually. There are 44 hot springs that discharge 15,000,000 gallons of water every day. There are 21 bath houses and all are controlled by the U. S. government. These include 583 tubs. Each tub averages $60 per year. The government has one bath house that is free. There are 140 doctors here. It is controlled by the government to treat patients and persons may use the baths without a permit from the doctors, as the U. S. Medical examiner will supply one free."

There are 400 hotels and apartment houses here. There are four of the largest hotels that accommodate from 500 to 1000 people each. The one that we are staying at, The Eastman, has 1000 rooms occupied. All the teams have good grounds, each being equipped with large grand stands and bleachers. There were about 700 people present at the Red Sox-Philadelphia game."

"I never heard so much baseball talk in all my life. Every night there is a 'banning' here in the hotel. The Mayor, who is here generally, starts the stories and tells some of them. Arthur Irwin, who played with Boston in 1911, is also a very good story teller. The latter is now doing scout duty for the New York Americans. Other men who are right there with the home stories are Billy Murray, scout for the Pittsburgh team, and who played in the New England League, was a back and forward for the Boston Braves of the Pittsburghers. I greatly enjoyed their many stories of the game and in all this trip is one of the best that I ever had."

The climate here has done me a world of good and I will have a lot to tell my Lowell friends when I get back. I am not thinking of that now for I am having such a good time. Tell the admirers of the Red Sox that Jake Stahl has a great bunch of players and that he will make them all stop some to beat him out."

Mr. Sparks also enclosed a small photograph of the squad which includes 28 men.

MYSTERIES WON

DEFEATED THE MOHAWKS BY
SCORE OF 33 TO 24

Two good games were played at the Lowell boys' club Saturday night. The Mysteries seconds of Lowell won from the Mohawks of Haverhill by the score of 33 to 24. The winners of the club won from the Haverhill boys' club team by the score of 30 to 24. Both games were very interesting and exciting and some splendid work was done by all players.

The lineup:

Mohawks: H. Ryan, R. Jordan, C. Brough, J. McLaughlin, J. Sawyer, J. Time: a 20 and 15 minute period.

Haverhill: H. Ryan, R. Jordan, C. Brough, J. McLaughlin, J. Sawyer, J. Time: a 20 and 15 minute period.

Referee: Bill of Haverhill.

MUNICE AND ALBENAS

To Appear at Lowell S.
and A. Club

There are four good bouts scheduled for this week's meeting of the Lowell Social and Athletic club and as the officers of the club have the confidence of the members relative to securing the best men available, a large attendance will be on hand when the first bout goes on. The curtain raiser will be of six rounds while the other three bouts are scheduled for ten each. The first will be furnished by Tommy Doyle, a clever boy from the Acie and Young Reynolds who hails from Centerville. Both are well matched and training hard for the meeting. The next number on the program will be sent Tommy Flannigan of Boston and Kid Lee of Chelsea, two of the best boys in the state at their weight. Flannigan is a very scientific boxer and is very popular with the members of the Lowell club. He appeared here recently against Spencer, a colored lad, and won hands down. He showed remarkable cleverness and was there all the while. Lee is good too and should put up a great argument with the Boston boy. Johnny Munice and Kid Albenas will be the principals in the second ten round engagement and these men faced each other at the club three weeks ago their ability is well known to the members. Their exhibition was great and the return engagement will be well appreciated by the members of the organization. The final bout will show Young Doyle of Lowell and Young Myers of the club. Here are two evenly matched boys and their offering ought to prove interesting. Doyle is training hard for the encounter and expects to come out on top. Myers is also well conditioned and is confident that he will put the fast Lowell boxer away. The meeting will be held in Mathew hall and the first number will go on at 8:15. Billy Gardner will act as the third man.

M. E. CONFERENCE
PROVIDENCE, R. I., March 26.—Practically every incoming train today brought joy and clerical delegates to the 72nd annual session of the New England Southern conference of the Methodist Episcopal church which will formally open in this city tomorrow. It continues through the week. Today was given over to informal gatherings and the registration of delegates from the three districts of the conference. The first public gathering of the conference will be held tonight when the anniversary of the Epworth League will be observed.

BROWN OBJECTS

To Paying Salary to the Mayor's Secretary

The commissioner of streets and highways, George H. Brown, objects to the payment of any salary to the mayor's private secretary and, in a letter addressed to the commissioner of finance, James L. Donnelly, he states that if any money is paid, before an ordinance creating the position is passed, he will bring the matter to the attention of the grand jury. When apprised of Mr. Brown's letter to Mr. Donnelly and the nature of its contents, Mayor O'Donnell said: "The commissioner of streets, evidently, is still unconvinced to the holding of the bill of Adams & Co. for furniture, etc. brought with flagrant disregard of the provisions of the charter."

Commissioner Brown's letter to Commissioner Donnelly is as follows: Lowell, Mass., March 25, 1912.

Dear Sir: As a member of the municipal council, I have not approved, nor will I sanction the payment of any salary to the private secretary of the commissioner of public safety, as I am of the opinion that the payment of such money would be illegal under the law. If there has been any money paid, I disclaim all responsibility. Moreover, if any money is paid, until an ordinance is passed creating such a position, I will bring it to the attention of the grand jury.

Respectfully yours,
George H. Brown,
Commissioner of Streets and Highways.

The appropriation of $1200 for a private secretary to the mayor was voted by the municipal council and when the vote was taken Mr. Brown, who disclaims all responsibility in the matter, voted "yes."

The management of this campaign is in the hands of Geo. and William Bentley company, Boston, who are the New England sales agents. Julius F. Schmidt, a special representative of the Geo. and Wm. Bentley company, has charge of the campaign on the road and under his direction the food value of the Borden products is being made known in every home in the cities and towns where his corps of assistants stop on their long tour.

SIDNA EDWARDS ENTERING JAIL

J.E. MOSBY

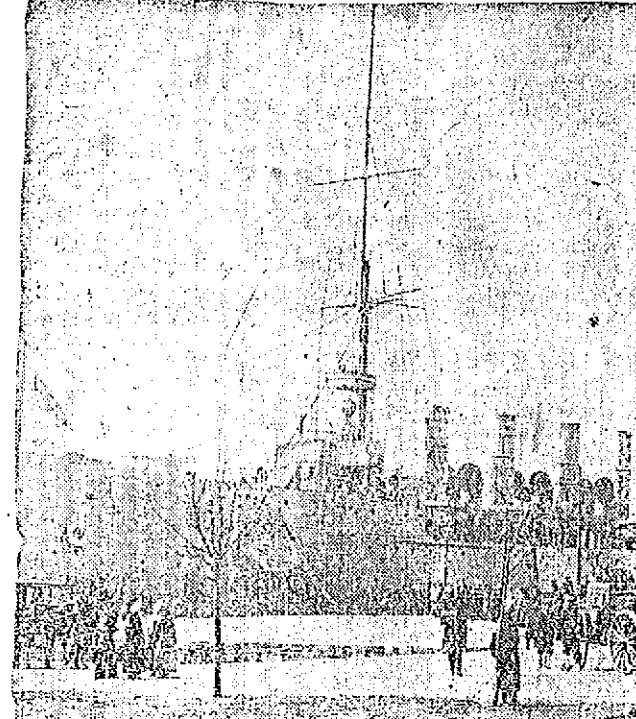

ROANOKE, Va., March 26.—Sidna Edwards, one of the Allen gang, who is in jail here, believes that the end of the man hunt is near and that the outlaws will soon be captured. He has expressed the opinion that the fugitives better give up, as there is no use in their prolonging the struggle that can end but one way. The men who are pursuing the desperadoes who "shot up" the Hillsville courthouse are as fearless as the men they are after, and their bravery has never been questioned. J. E. Mosby, a son of the famous Confederate raider, is one of the deputy sheriffs engaged in the hunt and J. W. Binn is another. Binn was one of the men who brought Sidna Edwards into town after his capture.

STRIKERS PARADE

STOPPED IN FRONT OF FACTO-RIES AND CHEERED

NEWTON, March 26.—About 150 strikers at the Saxony worsted yarn mills in Newton formed a parade today and, carrying a large American flag, marched down the Charles river to Watertown and Newton. The strikers stopped in front of two or three factories and cheered but were not joined by employees of other concerns. The employees of the Saxony mills struck yesterday in support of a demand for a higher pay schedule and the plant was closed. The mills employ about 700 operatives, most of whom are of foreign extraction.

OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE VARSITY CREWS READY FOR ANNUAL RACE ON THE THAMES

LONDON, March 26.—The annual regatta in the early morning of the rival aquatic struggle between the crews of Oxford and Cambridge, which will be decided March 30 over the historic course on the river Thames, has been able to show an all round from Putney to Mortlake. The contest witnessed, Oxford last year won the promises to be exceedingly keen with race in its minutes 3 seconds, a record which is in favor of the Cambridge crew. The advantage of starting is now advanced with regard to the race, with almost a complete set time all to elapse before the race, that their favorites have a good fighting chance of success.

CHASE-JOHNSON DEAL NOT LIKELY TO GO THROUGH

By TOMMY CLARK.

JUDGING from the number of rumors that are started in New York involving Hal Chase in some sort of a deal, the suspicion is created that the Highlanders would not hesitate to part with their former manager if a suitable deal could be arranged.

The fact that Chase was deposed as manager and will be expected to take orders from Wolverton is not an ideal condition, and Wolverton undoubtedly realizes this fact. But it would not be an easy matter to trade Chase and get his value in return. Some one started the story that Chase was to go to Washington for Walter Johnson, but of course that is out of the question. Johnson is a much more valuable player than is Chase. A team might struggle along with a comparatively ordinary first baseman and make good, but its pitching staff is of much more importance.

There is no question about Chase's ability as a ball player. He is undoubtedly the greatest first baseman the game has ever produced, but for all that it is questionable if he is going to be of any value to the Highlanders for the reasons stated.

If rumors count for anything there will be more than one crack athlete missing from the ranks in the next Olympic games. Several have been mentioned as unlikely to appear at Stockholm, and one of the most prominent is Cob Walsh, holder of the American championship with the sixteen pound hammer and a former member of the New York Athletic club.

Since last November the hammer man has been a resident of Seattle, and it was generally thought that he would represent the club of that city in the big events this year.

But it is doubtful if Walsh will ever again figure in athletic competition. He has been stricken with the gold gathering fever, and with the idea of scooping in some of the yellow metal, he is bound for the northlands.

The biggest hitting in baseball has been done by the biggest men. To put it differently and perhaps a bit more lucidly, big men have figured much more prominently in hard hitting than little men. There have been little men who were as good batters individually as any of the big ones, but these haven't been nearly as many of them.

It does not necessarily follow that big men are naturally better with the cudgel than small twirlers of the pestle, for knock and loquacity of eye are not regulated by avoirdupois. The fact is that big to medium sized men greatly outnumber little men in baseball, and probably therein is to be found the chief reason of big men having contributed more good hitters. It's principally a question of numbers.

TAGGING THE RUNNER IS AN ART

"LEARN how to tag the runner" has been the slogan at the training camps this spring. Managers of the big clubs have had their youngsters practice an hour or more in this branch of the sport. In former years little or no thought was given to this side of the game and the result is that there are very few experts taggers in baseball today. Picture shows members of the Giants practicing the art of tagging at Marlin Springs, Tex.

Wagner Not There In Pinch, Says Mertes

"DURING a recent fanning bee Sam Mertes," says the Minneapolis Journal, "former idol of the Minneapolis and New York fans and now to become an umpire on the coast, made a frank statement.

"Do you know," said Mertes, "that a steady batter is more apt to hit in a pinch than a star hitter? This may sound funny, but from my observation I can't help but think this way. The heavy hitters seldom come through in a pinch. Of course there are excepthe American league are wishing the same sort of downfall to the Athletics' pitchers.

After the gruelling conflict of 1909, when the Athletics came near snatching the pennant from the Tigers, Jennings' athletes rested easily after the world series and during the training season of 1910. Nothing over looked surer for a team than the pennant of 1910 did for Detroit.

Mack's team was strong in 1909 because of a superb pitching staff. Bender and Coombs and Plank were the particular pillars of the Mack men's superb defense.

Detroit did not mind them at the beginning of the season of 1910. Athletics, however great, are like pillars in that they will crumble and fall sooner or later. In ball players it is often sooner. Bender and Plank had been pitching for years, and the Tigers figured that their days of usefulness were over, but these two giants proved as useful to the cunning Cornelius in 1910 as ever. That much and more—they won the pennant for him with the aid of Jack Coombs.

But Coombs is more of a youngster. Last spring Detroit gave him credit for a fair season, but Plank and Bender—they surely could not last the season out. They must be ready for the minors. "They can't go on forever; their time to fall is here," is what the Tigers said.

The belief that Bender and Coombs and Plank would not be big winners for Mack in 1911 was strengthened after the season opened and the Athletics got away to a bad start. Surely they were gone—Bender and Coombs and Plank, the once big men in the box. April and May and June passed and the beginning of July saw them up there, big and powerful and threatening as ever, right on the heels of the Tigers—Bender and Coombs and Plank. They again pitched the Athletics into a pennant and followed this by pitching the Philadelphia machine into another world's championship. The athletes who painted the finish mark on the final proceeds was that old fellow of the copper colored skin, Bender.

The close of the baseball season found them coming instead of going. Bender and Plank and Coombs never pitched better ball than in the world series of 1911. Coombs met with an accident in one game and was operated on, but surgeons have since pronounced him physically perfect. So Coombs can be expected to come back strong this year.

Bender has a wonderful physique, with all the remarkable endurance that his race possesses. As a ball player, physically, the big Indian is a marvel. Christy Mathewson a few weeks ago pronounced him the greatest pitcher in the game, present company excepted, of course.

Plank will probably not be as useful this year as last, but Eddie still has a collection of good games stored away in that left arm of his.

And Coombs. There is no reason why his name should not be included among the leading quartet of American league hurlers for 1912. Coombs is a young man. With his giant physique and endurance and leading a clean life, Coombs should last for years more.

"They can't go on forever." That is true. But they seem comfortably equipped to go on another year—Bender and Coombs and Plank.

The wisest thing to do would be to go ahead and meet them instead of waiting below until the hand of time will push them down. They appear to have that hand bluffed.

BATTLING NELSON IS BECOMING VERY NOISY

OSCAR MATTHEW BATTLING NELSON is still alive! What's more, he is swinging the hammer with double fury. Through an enormous megaphone, strapped under his tin ears, he shouts in raucous tones:

"Ad Wolgast is a fourthusher!" Why he calls the perky lightweight champion a fourthusher the fight fans fail to understand. Maybe he does so for want of another epithet. In the west Nelson is pulling coarse stuff. The triumphant Wolgast handed him in the last encounter has worked on Nelson so much that the Battler actually froths when Wolgast's name is mentioned. The Dane wants first crack at Wolgast. "Six, ten, twenty or forty-five rounds will suit me," Nelson screams. "All I want is a chance to get my title back."

Nelson cannot convince himself that he is sliding the toboggan so rapidly that it is pitiful. The few battles he engaged in with some of the leading men of his division showed conclusively that he was a back number. His hitting powers are a thing of the past, his endurance is not as it was in the old days, and his hearing is so bad that he is unable to hear the bell. These handicaps are enough to bury any fighter other than Battling Nelson.

Nelson is now touring the country, picking up easy coin meeting local stars. Whether he beats them or not makes no difference. It is soft game and is just where Nelson should stick. There is a flock of newcomers entitled to a chance at the crown, so the great Battler of former days should in all fairness stand aside and rest on the laurels of his marvelous career.

Great Ball Players Make Team

GREAT players and not great managers are what make great ball clubs, says Jimmy McAleer, the new president of the Boston Red Sox.

"There never was a great baseball club that didn't have a lot of great players," says the new manager. "Mack is a great manager, but he has Collins, Baker, Coombs and a number of others. Jennings has Cobb and Crawford and Bush—and you see that's how it is. Cobb is the greatest player in the history of the game—the perfect ball player. Other men have been great fielders, great batters, great base runners. Sometimes a great fielder has been a great batter as well or a great base runner, or a great base runner has been a great batter, but Cobb is all of these things. He can do everything as well as anybody ever did anything in the history of the game."

"Cobb brings out the crowds. I suppose he boosts the attendance figures by 5,000 at least. The old fans want to compare him with the old players, and the new fans can't keep their eyes off him."

"Cobb has quickened the game—no doubt about that. They are all playing faster since he came."

HOW MIKE DONLIN
BECAME A BIG LEAGUER

MIKE DONLIN, the Pittsburgh outfielder, and Bobby Wallace, the manager of the St. Louis Americans, had a fanning bee in Chicago recently. "You showed me how to win a big league berth," said Donlin to Wallace, the Browns' manager.

"Quit your kidding," growled Wallace. "On the level, Bob, I mean every word of it," said Donlin. "Remember when I joined Patsy Ceban's St. Louis team in 1892? Jesse (Crab) Burkett sized me up as a fresh busher and made life miserable for me. He got my goat in a hurry. One day he bawled me for keeps. I determined to jump the club that night and return to California. After the game you called me aside and said:

"Don't let Burkett bluff you any longer; call him good the next time he cracks his whip. You may have to fight. Burkett will hattle, but you look husky enough to take care of yourself."

"I'm not afraid of Burkett or any other guy who walks on two legs, but I know the club is with Jesse and I would be foolish for me to start anything," I said.

"And you came right back with something like this: 'Next time Burkett picks on you, get him after the game. I'll see that you get an even break.'"

"One week later in Pittsburgh I ran over in Burkett's field and took a ball away from him. He reared like a bull and threatened to knock my block off. As soon as the game was over I climbed into the same carriage with Burkett and jostled him as hard as I knew how."

"What's the matter, kid? You ain't looking for trouble with me?" inquired Jesse.

"That's exactly what I'm after, you big, sour stiff," said I.

"Well, of all the sassy simps I've ever met you are the limit," said Burkett, without making a threatening move. "It's a good thing for you that I haven't got the temper I carried around two years ago or I'd knock you out of this carriage."

"Cut out the rough stuff," said Tebeau. Jesse was only joshing. Never lose your temper that way again. Shake hands with Burkett and forget all about this affair."

"Jesse extended his hand and you (Wallace) gave me a hunch to shake, and we buried the hatchet. That little affair was the making of Mike Donlin."

Two Times When an Athlete Should Keep Quiet

THERE are just two times when a man ought to keep his mouth shut," said John Paul Jones the night after he had broken the world's amateur mile record in the intercollegiate last spring.

"One is when he loses and the other is when he wins." And John Paul applied his maxim at the Columbia university games in New York recently, where he won the two mile relay in a whirlwind finish from Bodley of Pennsylvania. Jones would talk about anything except himself. It wasn't false modesty either. It was just one of his rules.

Egon Erickson,
Crack High Jumper

Egon Erickson, the crack young high jumper of New York, says he is out for a place on the Olympic team that will represent this country in Sweden next July. Erickson is now in splendid shape and expects to experience little difficulty in landing a berth on the American aggregation.

Billy Papke Says He Is Through With Fighting

SAD as it may seem, Billy Papke announces his retirement from the ring. Not many years ago Papke was one of the best little middleweights in captivity. Willie listened to the Australian siren and crossed several oceans to fight in the Antipodes. That finished his pugilistic career. When he came back Sailor Burko made him feel sick. Recently Frank Mantell beat him. And when Frank Mantell beats a man it certainly is time for that man to lay down the gloves.

Papke will retire with a fat bankroll, for he is like Walter Miller, the great Jackey, who, when he quit, sprang, "I got mine when the gittins were good."

SAM CRAWFORD, MODEL
PLAYER AND MODEL MAN

"SAM CRAWFORD is not only a model baseball player, but he is a model man," declares Ralph Works. "Sam isn't a shirk, neither is he a helter skelter. He isn't lazy, neither is he too ambitious. He isn't a stay at home, neither is he a rounder. Sam is one of those fellows who go along at an even tenor and, barring accidents, he should be just as good a baseball player five or ten years from now as he is at the present time."

"Crawford never does anything to excess. He never talks from the house-tops, yet he is always in the field with a suggestion always worth more than ordinary consideration."

"When I broke in with the Detroit team I was only twenty years old. I looked at Sam Crawford as a model to pattern my life after. And I have never regretted the decision I made then. Sam has never deviated from the course he would follow."

"Wherever the Detroit team goes the question was asked, 'How do the players like Cobb?' There seems to be a general impression that Cobb is disliked by the members of the Detroit team. Such is furthest from the point. For a man of Cobb's ability he is liked extremely well. It usually occurs where a player is a star there is a feeling between him and the team and between the team and him. There is nothing like that in the Tigers' ranks."

"There isn't a man in the uniform but who concedes Cobb the rank of 'the greatest baseball player.' And considering all that has been written, all the praises that have been sounded, all the pampering that the public has bestowed on Ty, I believe the star has kept his head exceptionally well."

Severe Test For Blindfold Golf

RECENT British papers received in this country carry entertaining stories of an attempt at blindfold golf that was a failure in some respects and more than an ordinary success in others. "The match in question grew out of an argument over the necessity of 'keeping the eye on the ball' in making a golf stroke. A prominent English professional agreed to play a round with eyes covered before making each stroke against a leading amateur."

The round ended 8 up and 7 to play in the amateur's favor, although he was conceded to have no chance with the "pro" without the handicap. Too good, the professional, managed to get away some excellent tee shots and made a few fairly good approaches. At putting, however, he was easily at sea, and the question arose as to whether the blindfold should have been permitted on the putting greens. There was a tendency all the while to spare strokes, and the result was frequent slicing.

The London Mail says of the match: "The match proves very conclusively that, although a blindfolded player might make excellent tee shots, yet through the green and when putting he would play far below his true form. Three times during the game Toogood was bunkered, and since he was not allowed to ground his club it took him two strokes to recover on each occasion."

INTERNATIONAL GOLF MATCH.
The international golf match between the professionals of England and Scotland, which takes place at Muirfield, Haddingtonshire, June 13, two days prior to the open championship, promises to be interesting.

MORGAN HOLDS RECORD. Cy Morgan of the Athletics has a record at last. He was dickered twelve times last season, which was the high honors in the league, but Jim Scott of the Sox was close behind him with a mark of ten helists.

LARNED MAY GIVE UP TENNIS FOR GOLF

WILLIAM A. LARNED is without question the most commanding figure in the history of American lawn tennis. During the ten year period from 1891 to 1901 he was the "uncrowned king of American tennis," although he was never quite able to capture the national title during that time. He first won the championship in 1901, defeating Beals Wright in the final round, and M. D. Whitman, the holder, by default in the challenge round. He retained the title in 1902 against R. F. Doherty of England, who won the tour-

Chinese Baseball Team to Tour

A CHINESE baseball team is the latest novelty that threatens the fan, Japanese and Cuban combinations are no longer a source of wonder, but a Chinese team in the eastern section of this country will at least cause passing comment.

The nine will be formed from among the students of Hawaii college and will tour the states during the coming summer, playing college and amateur clubs wherever possible.

Clother in 1903, Bundy in 1910 and McLaughlin in 1911.

When Larned was informed, upon reaching San Francisco, of the action of the association in requiring champions to play through the title tournaments instead of meeting the winner, he remarked that it would give him a good chance to retire and that he would undoubtedly do so and take up golf. Larned is a man well along in years now and could not hope to compete in tennis actively much longer.

nament, but lost it in 1903 in the challenge round to Doherty's brother, H. L., who won the tournament of that year. Larned played in the tournaments of 1901, 1903 and 1906, but was defeated in 1904 by Karl Behr in one of the earlier rounds. In 1905 by Beals Wright in the semifinal round and in 1906 by W. J. Clother in the same round. In 1907 he again won the tournament and took the title from Clother by default of the challenge round. Since that time Larned has successfully defended his title against the winners of the tournament, Wright in 1908,

New Zealand has proved a bitter disappointment to him and he feels his defeat even more keenly than do his friends. Those who are inclined to judge him harshly for his mediocre performance should bear in mind that he undertook the long and arduous journey, not from inclination, but from a sense of duty and at a great sacrifice to his business interests. These remarks apply to Wright with even more force, as he has been a member of four cup teams, being compelled to sacrifice almost a year's time in the aggregate, in the quest of the trophy.

Thousands Are Idle COTTON MILLS CLOSED

THE COTTON SCHEDULE MILLS CRIPPLED

President Taft Urges That it be Revised

WASHINGTON, March 26.—President Taft today transmitted to congress the tariff board's report on the cotton schedule with the recommendation that that section of the tariff law be taken up with a view to revision and reductions in the rates of duty.

The president advises congress that the board's investigations have shown that the duty on some cotton yarns is two and three times in excess of the difference of the cost of production in the United States and abroad. The duties imposed because of finishing processes are in excess of the difference in the extra cost due to finishing and are often in excess of the total domestic cost of finishing.

Prices paid by consumers in the United States are higher than abroad, even when pieces received by manufacturers in bulk places are the same. This is said to be due to the higher cost of distribution here. Plain

EMPLOYEES STRIKE

Not Satisfied With 5 Per Cent. Increase

FALL RIVER, March 26.—The employees of the New England Cotton Yarn Co., embracing the two mills of the company, this noon struck for an advance of ten per cent in wages, similar to that granted the textile operatives. An increase of five per cent went into effect yesterday but the help decided to ask for an additional increase. The plant is handicapped for operatives at the present time. Word is expected momentarily from the head office in New Bedford.

THE OFFICIALS DECIDED TODAY ON A GENERAL SHUTDOWN

The Officials Decided Today on a General Shutdown

All of the cotton mills in Lowell with the exception of the Lawrence Mfg. Co., are shut down as a result of the strike inaugurated yesterday. The Lawrence mills have not as yet been affected by the strike, and it was stated this forenoon that if the strike was carried there in full force the plant would shut down. The Appleton mills closed yesterday and the other mills, with the exception of the Lawrence, followed suit today. The mills that closed today were the Hamilton, Boot, Massachusetts, Prescott, Merrimack and Tremont & Suffolk. The shutdown will affect about 15,000 operatives and less than 3000 of that number were strikers when the order to close was issued this forenoon. The biggest demonstration by the strikers took place shortly after the noon hour today when they paraded in several of the principal streets, carrying red flags and banners and cheering to their hearts' content. It was a big parade and there was no dearth of enthusiasm.

The agreement to close the mills was arrived at at about 9 o'clock this morning and was done by telephone. In all of the six mills departments were so crippled that it was deemed best to close them entirely with the exception, perhaps, of the finishing departments. All unfinished goods will be finished and it is understood that none of the operatives in the finishing departments in the different mills are connected with the strike. It will take a week or ten days to finish the goods that are now under way and then all will be quiet within the brick walls.

Strikers Claim Victory

William E. Trautman, national organizer for the I. W. W., and first assistant to Lecturer Haywood during the Lawrence strike, arrived in Lowell this forenoon. When told that the mills had closed, Trautman said: "I am not surprised that they closed. The action of the mill owners is the first step toward victory for the strikers. The mill owners are pursuing the same course here as was pursued in Clinton. They are afraid that if they continued to operate their mills they would have to call the militia and they want to spare the state the expense. They are a very thoughtful set."

According to plans adopted at the mass meeting of the strikers held last night picket lines were thrown out at all of the mills. Strict attention being paid to the Hamilton mills. The picketers took up their positions at different mills as early as 6:15 o'clock and accepted the operatives on their way to work. There was no attempt at intimidation and the strikers were very orderly. All of the mills were well policed and all the police had to do was to keep the crowds moving.

Strikers' Parade

There was a parade of the strikers about 7 o'clock. The parade started from their headquarters, corner of Central and Market streets. They went up Market st., through Cabot and down Merrimack street. There were about 1500 in line when the parade left the strikers headquarters and the number was doubled en route. There was great cheering along the way and above or between heavy cheers one could hear the words "I. W. W." "Join the strikers" and "Don't be a scab."

When the news reached the headquarters of the I. W. W., in the Mansur block, Joseph V. MacDonald was speaking and was interrupted by Chairman Silva who made the announcement and it was met by a burst of cheers that could be heard for blocks away. The speakers declared that the closing of the mills was the first glow of victory for the strikers.

Mills Were Crippled

The mill agents were a unit in declaring that it was necessary to close the mills. In no instance was it found that any considerable number of the English speaking people were listed with the strikers. The strikers, said one mill official, "are mostly foreigners and there are many of them. They have so crippled the mills that there was nothing left for us to do but to close. I know there are a great many operatives who would like to remain at work and we sympathize with them, but we can't continue to do business without the necessary help. The mills have not closed through any spirit of antagonism, but as a matter of necessity."

Loamfitters Didn't Strike

The press committee of the Loomfitters Association of Lowell called at The Sun office this morning to state Continued to page eight.

MINOR CLASHES

Marked the Strike in Clinton Today

CLINTON, March 16.—Arthur Lowe, president of the Lancaster mills of this town, where a strike is in progress, arrived home from a southern vacation trip today and immediately held a conference with other officials of the company. No statement regarding the deliberations was given out. No meeting between the officials of the company and the striking weavers and loamfitters has been arranged yet.

The weavers were out on the picket line in force at the opening hour today, about 100 strikers being in line. There were two minor clashes. A corporation watchman was assailed by a striker but not seriously hurt, and two Poles, one a striker and the other a loyal workman, had a fight. The police were not called upon to interfere and no extra officers were on duty.

At the last town election, the police force, which was an issue, was overturned and a new police force began duty next Monday. These new officers have been sworn in and all were ready to be called on in case of emergency services. Notices were posted at the mills of the Clinton Wire Cloth Co. announcing an advance in wages for practically all of the 1000 operatives. The amount of the increase is not made known but it is said that the lowest paid help will receive proportionately the greatest advance.

MAN THOUGHT DEAD

Turns Up at His Home in New Harbor

NEW HARBOR, Me., March 26.—Almon Davis, a fisherman, has been receiving congratulations upon his safe return after an absence of more than two days during which it was supposed he had been drowned off the coast.

He was last seen Saturday in his power boat, on the fishing grounds between Monhegan Island and Penikese Point, and was then planning to return home, owing to an approaching storm.

As he came near this port his boat struck New Harbor ledge and was shipped the rudder. The craft then became unmanageable and was blown toward the sea.

Mr. Davis managed to reach the beach at Hall's Island, 10 miles distant, however. The island was uninhabited, but there were several small camps there. Davis tried 14 of them before he could find one that had a bed or clothing. At another he found kerosene and a stove.

He spent the night there, but yesterday was unable to find a morsel of food. He made repairs to his boat and when the sea died down started for home.

THE CARDINAL

Conferred With Local Priests Today

His Eminence Cardinal O'Connell came to this city today in his large limousine at 1:30 o'clock. He went to the parochial residence of St. Patrick's church and there conferred with a number of priests relative to St. Peter's orphanage. Other subjects were talked upon and the conference ended at 3 o'clock, when His Eminence left here for Boston.

STRIKE LEADERS

SAY THEY HAVE AGREED ON COMPROMISE OFFER

NEWTON, March 26.—After a conference today with several of the English speaking strikers the management of the Saco-Petee company, cotton machinery manufacturers, announced that the plant would re-open next Monday. The strike leaders say that they have agreed on the compromise offer of the company for a sixty hour week with an increase in wages of one cent an hour.

The unskilled help, who did not participate in the meeting last evening when the compromise offer was accepted, protested today and some of their leaders said that they would urge the men to stay out.

TWO ASPHYXIATED

Man and Woman Were Found Dead

LYNN, March 26.—Thomas Conkley, a shoe cutter, and Mrs. Mary Clummary, a young widow, employed as a waitress in a local restaurant, were asphyxiated some time during the night at a hotel on South Common street. The couple had lived at the hotel for some time, the manager of the house believing that they were married. An odor of gas today resulted in the door to their room being forced and their bodies were discovered. The appearance of the room satisfied the police that the asphyxiation was accidental.

CHICAGO PACKERS

Were Found Not Guilty by Jury

CHICAGO, March 26.—"Not guilty" was the verdict which the jury returned today in the trial of the ten Chicago packers accused by the government of violating the criminal section of the Sherman Anti-trust act.

The verdict was returned before U. S. Judge Carpenter, after the jury had deliberated over seventeen hours.

MINERS' STRIKE

Government Unable to Settle It

LONDON, March 26.—In a short speech in the house of commons this afternoon, Premier Asquith confessed the government's failure to terminate the coal strike as follows:

"We have done our best with perfect thoroughness and impartiality and it is with profound disappointment that I have to confess to the house that all our labors have been unavailing."

THE ENGINEERS

Say That Their Demands
Are Just

NEW YORK, March 26.—The demands of the engineers on the 50 railroads east of Chicago and north of the Norfolk & Western railroad, having been refused and the committee of the engineers and trainmen not indicating any retreat from their position, moves were made today to submit the whole matter to a referendum vote of the engineers in order to determine what policy should be pursued.

There has been no talk of a strike and in fact Grand Chief Warren Stone of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers said that many things could happen before a strike took place.

"We are not talking of a strike," said Chief Stone. "We are a long way from a strike. I am not talking of a strike because I do not believe in strikes if they can be averted. We believe our demands are just and right. If we did not we would not have made them."

It will take a two-thirds vote of all the locomotive engineers involved to declare a strike, if a strike were declared. There are reports that mediation under the Arbitration Act might be resorted to in case of a crisis.

$2,000,000 LEGACY

TO BE SHARED BY BOY AND HIS SISTER

PITTSBURGH, Mar. 26.—Fortune in the disguise of a port messenger had thrust joy last night into the hands of Samuel Rothschild, nephew of the late Abraham Rothschild, London representative of the world-famous banking house of Rothschild.

The telegram brought tidings of a legacy of slightly more than $2,000,000 to be shared by Samuel and his sister Rose, who lives in New York, upon the death of their father, Gedaliah Rothschild, formerly of Bratislava, Russia. Samuel is to receive $500,000 immediately and his sister Rose $25,000 for educational purposes. The telegram was signed by Cohen & Greenberg, whom Samuel supposed are members of a law firm of New York.

A SHARP WARNING

Nervous Exhaustion Is Notice to
Relieve the Strain and Build
Up the Starved Nerves.

Nervous exhaustion, or breakdown of the nerves, is more often a blessing than anything else. The nerves have rebelled and you should be thankful it is no worse than it is. Let it serve as a sharp warning to relieve the strain and to take a treatment that will build up your nerves.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are a real nerve tonic. They supply plenty of nourishing red blood to the exhausted nerves and do not excite and urge them on to do work which they have already shown they cannot do. Medicines which whip on the tired nerves do more harm than no medicine at all. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People not only start in immediately to give relief but continue to strengthen the nerves until they are able to do their work over again.

Mrs. H. G. Williams, of No. 112 North Franklin street, Saginaw, Mich., says: "Nervousness in my case was doubtless due to worry and overwork. I was very tired, out, weak, restless and nervous. Nervous spells came on me whenever I had any extra strain. There were no additional symptoms in my case but as I was conducting my store all alone and there was considerable detail connected with it, it is not to be wondered at that I was nervous. An old lady friend, who had used Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People with good results in her family, told me to try them for nervousness. I did so. My nerves became steadier and I was cured. I can recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People as a splendid nerve tonic. I have used them for years whenever run down and found they gave me immediate relief."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People are guaranteed to be free from any harmful or habit-forming drugs. They have given the most gratifying results in nervous headaches, neuritis, nervous dyspepsia, St. Vitus' dance, and even in partial paralysis and locomotor ataxia. For a full statement of this treatment write for the free booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are sold by all druggists, or will be sent, postpaid, on receipt of price, 50 cents per box; six boxes for $2.50, by the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y.

SALEM BOY ACCUSED DUNNIGAN WON OUT LYNN STRIKERS WIN

He is Charged With Attempted Ran on Nomination Papers and Six Manufacturers Grant the Demands of the Operatives

MARBLEHEAD, March 26.—Ernest Broutelle, the 15-year-old Salem boy, wanted in that city for attempted murder and highway robbery, who was captured yesterday in the cottage of John Haley at Lynn Cove, was last night charged with being one of the two robbers who pillored the exclusive Appleton Farms section of Ipswich.

A clock and opera glasses found on him were identified as a part of the loot taken from the palatial summer home at Ipswich, of Francis Appleton of New York.

His alleged partner and the team which they are supposed to have used in the various robberies have disappeared.

Broutelle first started as a fugitive from justice on Dec. 10 of last year, when he attempted the life of James H. Ellis, secretary of the Frothingham leather company of Salem. He is claimed to have fired a shot at him following an altercation, and missed him. He escaped the police at that time and is said to have held up Wallace Cunningham on the evening of the same day at Salem, relieving him of some $50 at the point of a revolver.

When captured by the Marblehead authorities he was hiding under a bed in the cottage into which he had forced an entrance, and although a revolver holster was found at his side, the gun itself was missing. He denied first that he was Broutelle, but admitted his identity when confronted by Marshal Leonard of Salem.

The Lynn police identified many neckties found near him as those stolen from a clothing store in Lynn. In all about a dozen daring robberies are laid at the boy's door.

As was stated in yesterday's paper, no contest, William H. Hall, 373; trustee of Adams Library, three years, no town officers at the annual meeting of the town of Chelmsford yesterday.

These contests were for assessor and constable. In these contests there was great interest. For assessor James P. Dunnigan won over Ervin A. Blaisdell by a vote of 250 to 121. In the contest Mr. Dunnigan was defeated and he ran on nomination papers. He is at present a member of the board of assessors and has accomplished good work while in the office. He received a fine endorsement yesterday and as the election is for three years it was a remarkable victory for him. In the other contest Hubert H. Richardson, the regular nominee, defeated Joseph T. Fallon who ran on nomination papers.

The complete list of the town officers and the votes each received is as follows: Town clerk for three years, no contest. Edward J. Robbins, 402; selectman for three years, no contest. Dr. Frank Small, 350; selectman for two years, Walter B. Emerson, 374; selectman for one year, Charles Lyons, 350; overseers of the poor, the selectmen named above; assessor for three years, James P. Dunnigan, nomination papers, elected with 250 over the regular nominee, Ervin A. Blaisdell, who received 121; town treasurer and collector, no contest. Ervin W. Sweetser, 396; school committee for three years,

JAMES P. DUNNIGAN,
Re-elected Assessor.

SENT TO PRISON

COUNTERFEITER GIVEN TWO
YEAR'S SENTENCE

BOSTON, March 26.—Charles Strallie, alias Itham Loper, was sentenced to two years in the federal penitentiary at Atlanta by Judge Dodge in the United States District court yesterday for passing four counterfeit bills, which he had raised from $1 to $10.

Strallie had just been released from the federal penitentiary at Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., where he was sentenced to two years for a similar offense, when he was taken into custody and brought to Boston to answer to an indictment which has been pending against him here since March, 1910. There is also an indictment pending against him in Baltimore.

He has been arrested six times for counterfeiting, and has served five years in Atlanta, two at Sollet and two at Detroit.

LYNN, March 26.—The strike of the McKay stitchers in 23 shoe factories of the city was practically won by the United Shoe Workers of America today when six of the largest manufacturers granted the demands for an increase in wages. Of the 1800 out yesterday all but 400 were at work before 10 a. m. today and Secretary Sawyer of the Manufacturers' association stated that the remainder would probably return before night.

When the strike began yesterday more than 1800 employees stopped work. During the day several of the manufacturers conceded the demands of the stitchers and by night nearly 500 operatives had returned to work.

The concessions by the six large manufacturers today brought several hundred more back to the factories and before noon less than 500 were out. The number was being constantly reduced.

Mr. Sawyer said: "While it is true that the McKay stitchers have won in their efforts to obtain an increase they have killed the goose that laid the golden egg, for it is only a question of time before the manufacturers will stop making McKay stitched shoes."

It was pointed out during the day that four years ago when there was a similar strike of the McKay stitchers the manufacturers retaliated by cutting down the output of such shoes until there were only a few stitchers left in the city.

TOSCANI HELD

HE IS CHARGED WITH SHOOTING
NATALIE CUPANA

WORCESTER, March 26.—Natalie Cupana, aged 22, is in the City hospital seriously wounded with a bullet somewhere in his body, and James Toscani, aged 21, is under arrest as the result of a shooting scrape in McFarland court early yesterday morning.

The men had been visiting in the home of Peter Horn, when they got into an altercation and it is charged that Toscani pulled a revolver and fired at Cupana, sending a bullet into his body. He was removed to the hospital, but the bullet has not been located.

The police, acting on a story by Cupana and witnesses of the shooting, located Toscani under a bed in the house at 62 Bloomingdale road and he was arraigned in the district court later in the day on a charge of assault with intent to kill.

Judge Utley continued the case until April 1 and placed Toscani under $2000 bonds pending the condition of Cupana.

CITY HALL NOTES

"I see that the street commissioner is trying to hold up your pay," said a reporter to Secretary Hearn today.

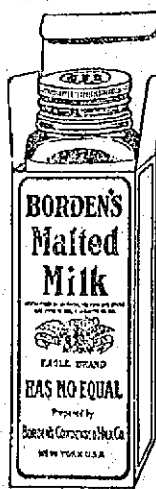

"So I see by the papers," replied Mr. Hearn.

"What's the reason?" asked the scribe.

"Search me," was the answer. "There must be a reason," ventured the scribe.

"Perhaps he envies me drawing mine personally," replied the secretary.

City Messenger Monahan has an "added attraction" to his job, as the theatrical press agents would say. Henceforth he will deliver letters for the street commissioner as well as for the mayor, as the street commissioner called him in, for that purpose yesterday, incidentally informing him that the mayor was only a commissioner like the rest of them. One of Mr. Monahan's first jobs was to deliver a note to the city solicitor's office, which is next door to the street commissioner's. Presumably the "secretaries" in the commissioner's office were too ardently engaged at the time.

PALMIST ARRESTED

Was Charged With Larceny From Patrolman Cooney

John R. Veno, an alleged sleight-of-hand artist and prestidigitator, was arrested before Judge J. Pickman in police court this morning on a charge of larceny of 50 cents, the property of Alfred J. Cooney, a member of the police department. The defendant entered a plea of guilty and after being found guilty was fined $2.

From the testimony offered Patrolman Cooney was in a clubroom, he being a member of the club, and the defendant entered the place and started to show some card tricks. The tricks were good to say the least and were appreciated by the members present, but subsequently Veno stated he was a palmer and would like to read the palms of the different persons. All were willing but when he said that it would cost $3 to do it they said "Nothing doing." He then reduced the price to $2 and once again the men present refused to produce the money. After some talk he said he would read a palm for 50 cents and then Mr. Cooney produced a half dollar and the alleged palmer-stealer told Mr. Cooney that he would live to the age of 105 years, that he was married and had six children.

When the money was turned over Veno palmed it in his left hand and placed it in his left pocket. He said to Mr. Cooney, "The spirits are with me and the money has gone to the old world."

Proof conclusive was sufficient for Patrolman Cooney and he placed the man under arrest and when Veno was arrested at the police station the half dollar was found in the left outer pocket of his overcoat.

During the course of his conversation Veno told the police that he had participated in several acts which had taken place on the South common in this city, one of them being the Ki-Ko act.

He also said that he had traveled with several circuses and came to this city to see a friend who was running a theatrical place.

The testimony which he offered was rather interesting but the court found the man guilty and ordered a fine of $2 to be imposed.

Illegal Keeping
Joseph F. Carr was charged with the illegal keeping of liquor in the town of Billerica. A plea of guilty was entered and the defendant was fined $50 from which sentence he appealed.

Drunken Offenders
Martin Kierce, who was on parole from the state farm, will be returned to Bridgewater. Thomas Todd was given a sentence of two months in jail. John L. Randall was sentenced to four months in jail.

Melvin L. Grant and Andrew McGowan were each fined $5.

There were two first offenders who were fined $2 each and several simple drunks were released before appearing in court.

Arrested in Billerica

Albert J. Viles was one of the persons in the tells this morning and after the weather he wanted to have a chance. He got a chance to pay $2 and when the money was not forthcoming Mr. Viles was given another ride in the limousine.

Sumner L. Brown was sentenced to the state farm and appealed.

For Jill to wash her Dolly's clothes, as Anty Drudge had taught her.

"Rub with Fels-Naptha soap and put them in, They'll be as white and as clean as a new pin."

What time on washday do you get through with your washing?

Ten o'clock, noon, three o'clock or night?

If you do it the old-fashioned, boiling, hot water, hard rubbing way, you're lucky to get it done by sundown.

If you wash the Fels-Naptha way in cool or lukewarm water without boiling or hard rubbing, you can be done well before noon and take it easy all the time.

And your clothes will be cleaner, fresher, sweeter than ever before.

Fels-Naptha Soap is a great time-saver. In Winter and Summer.

A half-day every washday means twenty six days a year saved by washing with Fels-Naptha Soap.

Isn't that worth while in addition to the saving on clothes, fuel, health and labor?

Time is money.

Use Fels-Naptha Soap every washday and save it.

Follow directions on the red and green wrapper.

AUTOMOBILE NEWS

PROSPECTS ARE GOOD

Many Sales Made During the Automobile Show

The automobile shows are over, the Boston shows having been the last one of any real note, and besides that the largest attended and having a larger display of cars than any show held in the country. The shows proved to be productive of good results for many machines were sold on exhibition, but the number of people who purchased cars at the shows represented a very small percentage of the total business gained.

There were many people who visited the Boston shows who became interested in automobiles just because they had a chance to see what might be called the "meat-and-ants" of the cars. Take the average person who never owned a car or went into an examination of its mechanism. He knows practically nothing of the machine because the body covers the principal part of the automobile—the engine and transmission. At the show the stripped chassis were displayed and any one could not fail to understand how the machine was operated.

However, many prospective purchasers are holding off for the coming of the pleasant weather, preferring to take their demonstrations under agreeable conditions. There is no doubt in the mind of the local dealers but that this year will be a bumper year for pleasure and commercial vehicles.

Miss Anna Boyle has purchased a handsome $1 horse power Oakland touring car, and without doubt it will not fail to attract attention during the present season. This was one of the cars which was on exhibition at the Boston show and when Miss Boyle saw it she wanted it and after agreeing to allow it to remain on exhibition until the end of the show it was sold to her and yesterday was delivered at the Moody Bridge garage and Miss Boyle may be seen riding in it almost any day from now on. It is a beautiful car with grey body and dark running gear.

Ivar S. Borg, foreman over at the Sebring mills, who with his family intends to make an automobile tour through Sweden, which was previously stated in the columns of The Sun, has shipped his machine to Sweden. The car which is a model 45, seven passenger Oakland car, has been secured.

The Decatur truck for which the Moody Bridge garage is agent, has proved to be a very stable car and has done excellent work. The Conway Transfer company which has used one of the Decatur trucks for the past several months is very much pleased with the truck.

Mr. Arthur W. Greeley, the well known piano tuner, who is a devotee of the Ford car, has purchased another through the agency of the Lowell Motor Mart at the corner of Merrimack and Tilden streets. It is a touring car of the latest model and of a very attractive design. That Mr. Greeley changed one Ford car for another speaks well of the capability of the Fords.

Zephirin Norvandin, has also purchased a Ford car through the agency of the Lowell Motor Mart.

A carload of Ford cars arrived in this city today and were taken to the Lowell Motor Mart where they are now on exhibition.

The ever popular Chase truck for which the Lowell Motor Mart has the agency is making a hit throughout this section of the country. A demonstration truck arrived in this city yesterday and Mr. Stephen L. Rochette, agent for the machine, is now ready to give demonstrations.

The all interesting talk in automobile circles at the present time is the third annual concert and ball which is to be held in Lincoln hall on Thursday night, April 25th under the auspices of the Lowell Chauffeurs' federation. If the popularity of the members of the organization counts for anything there will be a large attendance but those who will be present will not regret it for the concert is to be of the A1 class and the chauffeurs know how to entertain. The first and second annuals were grand successes but if the program which has been arranged will be carried out, the third event will be one of the best social functions held in this city for years. Therefore remember the boys who sit behind the wheel and are always looking after the interest of the owner or occupant of the automobile.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Hyman, who are to make a tour of the British Isles and the European continent, left Boston this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on board the Steamship Canada of the Cunard line with their 14 six-cylinder Stevens-Duryea.

Mr. Hyman recently purchased a Stevens-Duryea torpedo model and this machine will be transported to England and used during the trip through the various countries in Europe.

The following is the itinerary of the trip:

Leave Boston, March 26, aboard the Cunard liner, Lacandonia; arrive Liverpool six days later. From Liverpool they will travel direct to London, where final stopover for the tour will be made and then they will cross the channel at Dover, going direct to Paris. A week or ten days will be spent in and about Paris, a day's trip being taken to Rheims.

From Paris the tour will be through southern France, thence to Monte Carlo, after which Genoa will be visited. Rome and Naples are also included in the trip as are Florence and Venice, Switzerland, Germany, Holland are also included in the itinerary.

At Paris, friends of Mr. Hyman's, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis McDermott, of Oakland, Cal., will probably join them and make the closest of the continent with them in another machine. Mr. and Mrs. Eugene S. Hyman are expected to join the travelers in England for the tour of Great Britain.

All day tomorrow and Thursday, Walter A. Jordan, representative of the Boston Remountable Rims Co., of New York, will give demonstrations of the famous rim manufactured by his concern at the Pitts Auto Supply in Hurd street. This rim was the talk of the shows held recently in New York and Boston, and it is reported that the sales of the Dorian far exceed those of any other rim at this season's or past shows. The Dorian while being one of the latest rims to be placed on the market is enjoying extensive sales throughout the country. Saturday, Mr. Jordan gave a demonstration to several local enthusiasts and repeatedly replaced tires on a model rim in 15 seconds. He claims that any automobile can duplicate this feat.

This is true, there is a great relief from the tire problem in that for all automobilists whose cars are equipped with Dorian rims and at the same time there will be a material decrease in the sales of plasters and liniments for aches or lame backs.

THE GLIDDEN TROPHY

Petition to Retain Chief Reliability Prize

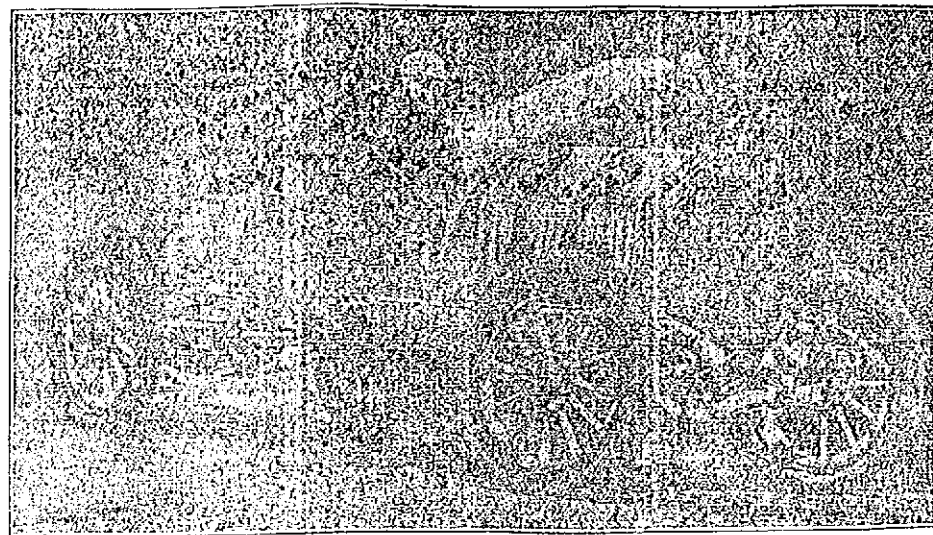

Believing that a serious mistake has been made by the American Automobile association in subrogating the Glidden trophy to a minor place in the National reliability contest, Benjamin Briscoe, president of the United States Motor company, has asked the A. A. A. and the Manufacturers' contest association to retain the Glidden trophy as the chief prize in American reliability competition.

Mr. Briscoe declares that it will be ruinous to nullify the good work and prestige which eight years of hard work have built up, merely because a few persons are opposed to perpetuating the name of an individual. In every branch of sport, he declares, there are trophies offered by individuals and known by the names of the individuals.

"No other trophy could compel public interest in motoring to the same extent as the Glidden trophy," said Mr. Briscoe. "The trophy should be retained for all time. It is the classic of automobile competition and represents more hard work on the part of American automobile manufacturers than any other trophy or contest, not even excepting those trophies which are offered for racing."

Racing is giving way to touring contests which prove the desired reliability in motor cars. Tours like the last Glidden contest from New York to Jacksonville, Florida, also furnish an incentive for the individual to compete.

"The Glidden trophy was donated by a sportsman purely in an altruistic spirit. He is a well-known motorist, a well known exhibitor, having no interest whatsoever in the automobile trade beyond the encouragement of touring by private owners and the

"WILD BOB" BURMAN

"WILD BOB" BURMAN To Drive Cutting Car in International Race

"Wild Bob" Burman, world's speed king, has definitely settled the question of his mount in the second annual 500-mile International Sweepstakes race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway next Memorial day, May 30. It was reported that Burman would drive a Cutting car, and confirmation of the report was received by the Speedway management when the Clarke-Carrie Co., of Jackson, Mich., sent in the entry of a big racer with Burman nominated as the pilot.

Burman is probably more in the public eye than any other racing driver, because of his succession to the throne of speed king and his holding of the world's straightaway records made at Daytona, Florida. He has been a contender in most of the great motor events in the past four or five years and has always figured more or less prominently.

demonstration of comparative reliability. The trophy was accepted by the American Automobile association and has been completed for seven times.

"No good reason for its rejection has been advanced," the simple fact that the trophy bears the name of an individual is no reason why the prestige of our great national contest should be sacrificed to the whims or fancies of a few. It is a menace to the industry to kill the Glidden

The entry of the Cutting car, with Burman named as driver, means that he will devote the next two months of his time to preparing the car and testing it out over the motor speedway course. He probably will do very little exhibition driving or mile track racing in the meantime.

Harry Goetz, who was the mechanic for Ray Harroun, winner of the last 500-mile race in a Marmon car, has gone with Burman and is helping him in the building of his special racing car. Goetz is one of the most skillful of mechanics in the country and Burman looks to him to aid materially in the success of his next appearance in a big race.

The car which Burman will drive is a 1912 special model, weighing 2300 pounds, which is 300 pounds above the minimum weight allowed in the race. The motor has four cylinders with a bore of five and seven thirty-seconds inches, and a piston stroke of seven inches giving a piston displacement of 131.9 cubic inches. It is believed that the motor will develop about one hundred horsepower, and it probably will be about the largest in the race. The motor is specially built to come just within the six hundred cubic inch limit set upon the contest by the Speedway management.

The other entries to the race are two State cars, to be driven by Gil Anderson and Len Zengle, with Billy Knippen as pilot; two Nationals with Don Harry Her, Howard Wilcox and Charley Metz as drivers; two Case cars with Harvey Herick and Louis Desbrow nominated as regular drivers; two Mercedes cars with Ralph DePalma and Spencer Wilbur at the wheel; one Fiat to be driven by Teddy Tetzlaff; a Simplex with Bert Dingley to drive and a Lexington to be piloted by Harry Knight.

Ralph Mulford has purchased a six-cylinder Knox, which he will drive in the race, although his entry has not formally been made.

This early field of starters is considered the cream of driving and racing talent of the country, and means that the former record of 74.61 miles per hour established for the 500 miles is certain to fall in the next Memorial day contest.

The early seat and hotel reservations which have been made indicate that the crowd will be greater than that which witnessed last year's event. The throng which witnessed the last 500-mile race was the largest that ever passed into any one enclosure to attend a sporting contest of any description.

bet that Johnnie Aitken of the National will be in that race, all right."

It was suggested that Aitken has retired since his marriage and that the National company has made official announcement to that effect.

Others say that when the motors begin to roar and the cars to do their swift antics at the track that Aitken will be unable to resist the call of speed.

One man, a race driver himself, told how hard it is to quit racing once you have begun. "It intoxicates you. You become a slave to the excitement of the sport. I have seen Aitken driving National cars in many races, and he has won many, many times. There he sat, muscles tense and shows that he was whirling through space in that big, blue machine. That his goggles were fitted a streak of panoramic pictures of the grand stands and cheering people."

HEAVY RAINFALL

Interferes With Automobile Trade in Japan

Interesting reports on the automobile situation in Japan have just reached this country.

About the worst enemy to the successful marketing of automobiles in Japan is the heavy rainfall. An almost incessant downpour keeps the roads in a poor condition most of the time and as a result there is not the desire among the Japanese, who can afford to buy automobiles, to travel. In consequence the proportion of the people who are in the market for cars is much smaller than it is in the United States. You can realize how much the rain interferes with automobile touring in Japan when practically every car in use must be equipped with rough tires. The plain tread tires will not afford traction on the slippery roads.

A movement which will do much to overcome the present bad condition of the roads is that now on foot to secure an appropriation of a sum equal to $3,000,000 in our money from the government. The expenditure of such a sum to improve the roads will greatly relieve the present situation and there is every reason to believe the proposed bill will be carried.

The demands of the Japanese people who wish automobiles are to a certain extent peculiar to themselves. At present there are but two hundred cars all told in the empire and most of these are the low priced, low powered varieties. Owing to the fact that country touring consists of passing through a succession of small villages there is little call for the high powered car. The usual rate of travel over the country roads is only twelve to fourteen miles per hour and the people prefer a low priced touring car for their purpose.

American made automobiles are by all means the most popular of the cars seen in Japan. A few foreign makes are represented in the field but their hold on the market is a weak one and the American manufacturers may be said to dominate the situation. One reason for this is that the cars shipped have been touring cars; the Japanese prefer a four or five passenger car to the two passenger roadster type.

The future of the automobile industry in Japan will depend largely on the quality of the cars sent over. The Japanese are shrewd people and demand cars that will "stand up." America will need to send her best modern priced cars if she is to continue her control of the field.

COTTON MILLS CLOSED

The willingness of certain parties to quit work at the behest of non-resident agitators has forced most of the cotton mills to shut down until such time as the operatives show a desire to remain at work.

With the operatives idle it is to be hoped that they will avoid everything in the nature of violence or disorder. It is hoped also that the operatives may secure their demands if the mills can afford to grant them; but all concerned will lose heavily by this suspension of business.

It would seem that there is a lot of strike sentiment in the air in this city. Men who have no interest in our city or its industries are trying to incite a general strike regardless of the consequences. Those who have already quit work did so hastily and without presenting their grievances to the mill officials. The textile unions, we understand, have thus far nothing to do with the strikes. It is not their custom to strike first and negotiate afterwards. The strike should be the last resort after peaceful means have been exhausted. It should be understood that if any class of mill employees choose to strike they are exercising their rights, but if any other class wishes to remain at work they have the right to do so and should not be interfered with any more than those on strike. The police, we understand, are determined to protect the rights of all concerned—the strikers and those who remain at work as well as the mills and the men responsible for their safety and management. Let it be understood that Lowell will not be turned into a hot bed of anarchy by revolutionary leaders. The mill operatives are not ready to lend themselves to any such tactics. Everybody wants the operatives to get as good pay as possible, and it should be arranged that the maximum increase would go to those who have the minimum wage in order if possible that the wages of every operative employed in the mills may be sufficient as to afford the recipients a comfortable living.

OPEN AIR SCHOOLS

The city of Boston is making some valuable experiments with open air schools. It is claimed that as a result of free ventilation in the school rooms where the experiment has been tried, some of the children who showed tuberculous tendencies were completely cured. There can be no doubt whatever of the advantages of fresh air in the school room, the only difficulty being to have it in abundance without any draughts on the heads of the children. There is one consideration very important in regard to school buildings, and that is the cubic air space allowed for each child. In some school buildings the air space is not nearly as great as it should be. The reason usually is, that schools are overcrowded.

If this experiment only brings about a clearer conviction of the importance of fresh air at all times in the school room it will have accomplished good results. It will moreover teach the children the importance of ventilation not only in the schools but in their homes and wherever they may be employed.

CELEBRATING THE VICTORY

Let us hope that the city of Lawrence will find that it has been vastly benefited by the great mill strike. There is to be a demonstration over the "great victory" won, but while the operatives may celebrate, the municipality has suffered irreparable loss and injury. The citizens who have a real interest in Lawrence and who regard it as their permanent abode are not rejoicing. They are rather wondering whether the city will overcome the shock and rise triumphant over the extraneous elements of revolution and disorder that asserted themselves there for the past few months.

THE NEW CAMBRIDGE TUNNEL

The city of Cambridge will be greatly benefited by the opening of the subway connecting Boston with Harvard square. The cost of this subway was over $10,000,000. This has been one of the most expensive subways constructed from Boston proper and it will be one of the most heavily patronized. It will be a great boon to the city of Cambridge as well as to Boston. It will be particularly convenient to the students and faculty of Harvard university as it will land them in the precincts of the college in about eight minutes from Park square.

THE LAST OF THE MAINE

The tragedy of the battleship Maine and all the investigations and ceremonies in connection therewith are now matters of history. The battleship was destroyed on February 15, 1898; the framework of the bulk was buried at sea a little over a week ago, and the bones of the victims solemnly laid at rest in Arlington cemetery in Washington, March 23, 1912. The real cause of the destruction of the Maine has not been determined beyond the fact that the explosion was external, apparently from a mine placed in the harbor how or by whom is still a mystery.

The cities of Massachusetts are still favorably inclined towards the commission form of charter, and there is no reason why they should feel otherwise. When we shall have lived under the commission charter for a year or so we shall be able to speak authoritatively on the subject. Thus far it seems to be working fairly well but whether well or ill the charter and the men elected under it reflect the will of the people.

In a short time every state in this union will have a law similar to the Canadian law for the settlement of industrial disputes, before, not after the strike has been resorted to. The state of Massachusetts will probably be a leader in this direction, thus setting an example worthy of emulation by other states for the preservation of industrial peace.

Boards of health have often advised boiling drinking water before using, but in Baltimore physicians have advised users of milk to boil it as a precaution against an epidemic of sore throat resembling tonsillitis, due to a specific germ found in milk. So far as known that disease has not appeared in this vicinity.

SLEEPLESS NIGHTS IN ENGLAND

SEEN AND HEARD

"It is as easy to draw back a stone thrown with force from the hand as to recall a word once spoken."

"We all can do better than yet we have."

And not be a whit the worse; it never was loving that emptied the heart.

Not giving that emptied the purse."

"No one is useless in this world who lightens the burden of it for anyone else."

"Take things by their smooth handle."

"I once heard it said of a grumbling, unthankful person—he would have made an uncommonly fine soap suds if he had happened to be born in that station of life."

Birds sometimes make extensive migrations, even if they were of a species not commonly met.

"The city of Boston is making some valuable experiments with open air schools. It is claimed that as a result of free ventilation in the school rooms where the experiment has been tried, some of the children who showed tuberculous tendencies were completely cured. There can be no doubt whatever of the advantages of fresh air in the school room, the only difficulty being to have it in abundance without any draughts on the heads of the children. There is one consideration very important in regard to school buildings, and that is the cubic air space allowed for each child. In some school buildings the air space is not nearly as great as it should be. The reason usually is, that schools are overcrowded."

If this experiment only brings about a clearer conviction of the importance of fresh air at all times in the school room it will have accomplished good results. ## NO OCCASION FOR RECALL

Lawrence Telegram: Republicans are said to be ungrateful, but what of cities? Here in Lawrence rumors are rife of papers being circulated advocating the recall of Mayor Scanlon in accordance with the provisions of the new city charter. The mayor is accused of having been biased in his attitude toward capital and labor in the recent strike and to have shown his inability to properly handle the duties of chief executive. And now this movement to recall him, a movement started by a class opposed to government of any sort and aided by the political enemies of a man who has always stood for justice and righteousness in government.

REV. T. L. FROST

Addressed Members of Pawtucket Church

More than 200 sat down to supper in the vestry of the Pawtucket Congregational church last night. It was almost an overflow meeting and it was an enthusiastic one, too.

At the business meeting of the C. E. union several matters of importance to the union were brought up and acted upon. A letter from the Lowell union to Epworth League societies was read, the letter being a request that a meeting be arranged with them in order to find means, if deemed advisable, by both unions, whereby they might be united. The matter was laid before the union and it was decided to appoint a committee of three to confer with the Epworth union. The committee appointed consisted of the president of the C. E. union, Frank J. Spooner, Rev. Asa Reed Dills and Alvin Sykes.

The union was addressed by Mrs. P. Neighbor in behalf of the Cambridge union, that the annual convention might be held in Cambridge. A letter from the Ministry-at-Large was read, asking that three delegates together with the president of the society, attend a meeting to be held in the early part of April, to consider the best means of furthering the work of the Ministry-at-Large. Frank J. Spooner appointed Miss Ella Penn, W. A. Chase and Mr. Hill as the members of this committee.

The reports of the financial condition and of the year's work of the society were read by the secretary, Miss Penn, and were accepted. The appointment of a delegate to the annual convention of the Christian Endeavor unions at Sagamore also took place at this business session. Miss Clara Penn being the unanimous choice of the society.

The address of the evening was given by Rev. Theodore L. Frost, S. T. B., pastor of the Warren Street Baptist church, his subject being "True Greatness."

There was also a very enjoyable song by Fred Leclair, "A Dream of Paradise."

Mr. Edward F. McSweeney of Boston, ex-commissioner of Immigration, will be the guest of Lowell council, No. 72, Knights of Columbus, Sunday, March 31, 1912. Mr. McSweeney who is an orator of renown will give a lecture on "Socialism." The lecture will take place at 2 o'clock sharp. Mr. McSweeney was one of the speakers at the recent banquet of the board of trade and as he is a very interesting talker it is of great importance to the citizens of Lowell to go and hear him at Associate hall next Sunday.

A very interesting lecture was given at the High Street church last night by Professor James G. Rodger, Ph. D., who is giving a course on "Religion from the Scientific Viewpoint." its before crossing the river to Canada, says the Detroit Free Press.

Proceeding in this strange flight thousands of them were drowned in Lake Superior, but so many of them sustained the long flight that they stocked districts north of the lake and made a profitable chicken hunting ground where there never had been such game before.

No satisfactory explanation of that migration, unprecedented, as far as known, was ever made, but the general opinion among sportsmen acquainted with conditions there is that it was forced by the persistent, excessive, and indiscriminate hunts of the market hunters of those birds.

An equally strange migration of wild turkeys once occurred in Michigan. These big game birds were plentiful in the Michigan woods, and were being hunted mercilessly by organized parties in the employ of dealers in Chicago and other cities. They disappeared from their haunts as suddenly and completely as if they had never been there. But they could not hide their tracks, their numbers were so great. It is chronicled that the migrating host was a quarter of a mile wide and was several hours in passing. They journeyed westward and in the course of time wild turkeys were reported as having been plentiful in the districts of West Michigan, where they had been rarely seen before.

The mysterious disappearance of the passenger pigeon, of which there were millions in this country one day and not one to be seen anywhere the next, had not so fortunate a sequel as that of the Michigan wild turkeys, for no word has ever been heard as to where the wild pigeons went.

An unaccountable appearance of birds in large numbers and of a kind not common to the region was that of the myriads of owls that suddenly came down on the game covers in the Saginaw district of British Columbia in 1897. They were plentiful in the Saginaw district of British Columbia, and it is said that they were the cause of the loss of many of the game covers in the Saginaw

HON. JOHN T. SPARKS

Writes Interesting Letter
From Hot Springs

Hon. John T. Sparks, of this city, who is a member of the Lowell party with the Boston Red Sox at Hot Springs, writes that he is greatly enjoying his trip. He is stopping at the Eastman hotel there, with the many ball players. In telling of the history, Mr. Sparks says: "At the hotel there are the Red Sox, Pittsburgh and Denver teams. The Philadelphia nationals are staying at the Majestic. The Eastman is a great hotel and it is taxed to its capacity at the present time."

He further says: "This is a great place. The population of the place is 20,000 but 100,000 people visit here annually. There are 41 hot springs that discharge 13,000,000 gallons of water every day. There are 24 bath houses and all are controlled by the U. S. government. These include 538 tubs. Each tub averages $50 per year. The government has one bath house that is free. There are 140 doctors here licensed by the government to treat patients and persons may use the bath without a permit from the doctors, as the U. S. Medical examiner will supply one free."

"There are 400 hotels and apartment houses here. There are four of the larger hotels that accommodate from 500 to 1000 people each. The one that we are stopping at, The Eastman, accommodates 1000 and at present all rooms are occupied. All the teams have good grounds, each being equipped with large grand stands and bleachers. There were about 100 people present at the Red Sox-Philadelphia game."

"I never heard so much baseball talk in all my life. Every night there is a 'banning' here in the hotel. Tim Murnane, president of the New England league, who is here generally starts the stories and he tells some good ones. Arthur Irwin, who played with Boston in 1911 is also a very good story teller. The latter is now doing scout duty for the New York Americans. Other men who are here with the long stories are Billy Murray, scout for the Pittsburgh team, and who played in the New England league way back and Parney Dreyfus, owner of the Pittsburgh. I greatly enjoyed their many stories of the game and in all this trip is one of the best that I ever took."

"The climate here has done me a world of good and I will have a lot to tell my Lowell friends when I get back. I am not thinking of that now for I am having such a good time. Tell the admirers of the Red Sox that Jake Stahl has a great bunch of players and that he will make them all step up to bat him out."

Mr. Sparks also enclosed a small photograph of the squad which includes 23 men.

MUNICE AND ALBENAS

To Appear at Lowell S.
and A. Club

There are four good bouts scheduled for this week's meeting of the Lowell Social and Athletic club and as the officers of the club have the confidence of the members relative to securing the best men available, a large attendance will be on hand when the first bout goes on. The curtain raiser will be of six rounds while the other three bouts are scheduled for ten each. The first will be furnished by Tommy Doyle, a clever boy from the Acro and Young Reynolds who hails from Centerville. Both are well matched and training hard for the meeting. The next number on the program will present Tommy Flannigan of Boston and Kid Lee of Chelsea, two of the best boys in the state at their weight. Flannigan is a very scientific boxer and is very popular with the members of the Lowell club. He appeared here recently against Spencer, a colored lad, and won hands down. He showed remarkable cleverness and was there all the while. Lee is good too and should put up a great argument with the Boston boy. Johnny Munice and Kid Albenas will be the principals in the second ten round engagement and as these men need each other at the club three weeks ago their ability is well known to the members. There exhibition was great and the return engagement will be well appreciated by the members of the organization. The final bout will show Young Boyle of Lowell and Young Byers of the Hub. Here are two evenly matched boys and their offering ought to prove interesting. Boyle is training hard for the encounter and expects to come out on top. Byers is also well conditioned and is confident that he will put the fast Lowell boxer away. The meeting will be held in Mathew hall and the first number will go on at 8:15. Billy Gardner will act as the third man.

M. E. CONFERENCE

POVIDENCE, R. I., March 26.—Practically every incoming train today brought lay and clerical delegates to the 22nd annual session of the New England southern conference of the Methodist Episcopal church which will formally open in this city tomorrow to continue through the week. Today was given over to informal gatherings and the registration of delegates from the three districts of the conference. The first public gathering of the conference will be held tonight when the anniversary of the Epworth league will be observed.

BIG MASS MEETING

Of Strikers Was Held
Last Night

The mass meeting of the strikers held in the old Mathew hall in the manner building last night was attended by a very large crowd. In fact every available space in not only the hall but the stairways and the entrances to the building were crowded. The attendance represented about every nationality. These strikers were there to hear the plans of the strikers.

The principal speakers who talked in English was Miss Pearl McGill of Ohio, who is connected with the I. W. W. When she appeared on the platform she was greeted with cheers and much applause. During her remarks, which were frequently interrupted with applause, she said: "I want to see a big strike here. I want to see a strike like we had in Lawrence. I want all the operatives to come out. To win we need all the employees of the mills and we have got to win. Don't take what they offer you. Tell them what you want."

Now, tomorrow morning we want all you strikers to do picket duty at the Hamilton mill; remember, the Hamilton. While the strike is not great there, we want it to be. We want you all to be there and use peaceful means to get the operatives of that mill to join us. That mill starts work at 6:45 o'clock. You be there at 6:15.

Pay strict attention to that mill. Speak to all those who attempt to enter. Tell them of your cause, which is their cause. They will then tell you to go. We will get that mill we will go to the others in the same manner. We will take one mill a day and in time we will have all the operatives with us. This is not for us but all the operatives in the mills. When we get them, how can we do anything but win.

In Lawrence, they sent the militiamen other soldiers and the police. But, my friends, these men could not go into the mills and wear cloth. The mill officials there needed us and they had to get us. Though the struggle lasted nine long weeks, we won and that is what we are going to do here in Lowell.

Now friends, some of you may not understand me, but I want those who do to tell the others. We want to be one body. Come out and stick together. Wear the stars with the inscription, 'Don't Be a Scab.' By wearing these you will not have to do so much talking. The others will see them and they too will want to have them. They are here tonight and all may have them. You have got to win. The strikers are only human. They cannot starve. If driven to this then they will take some course. We want to win peacefully, just if you are driven to starvation we cannot govern your actions. So you see, the fight is one that has to be won.

Tomorrow the different nationalities will have separate meetings. This is done so you can hear your own representatives tell you of the progress of the situation. As Haysford said there is no hall large enough to hold us all. So we will appoint strike committees, men which all the different nationalities will be represented. Now in closing I want to say that this is a great crowd and that we want the crowd at the Hamilton tomorrow to be much larger. Remember, be there at 6:15 and act. Talk to all and we will get them with us. Wear your paper badges and when we get that mill we will get all the others."

After Miss McGill several foreigners spoke in their native tongue. The next English speaker was one of the strikers from Lawrence. He said that he came on his own free will. He told of the strike in his city and how the strikers won. He said that he hoped that the Lowell strikers would win without engaging in the battles that his people were forced to do. He told all they should become identified with the I. W. W. "For," he said, "The I. W. W. was responsible for the Lawrence victory." He then went on and told how he at one time worked in one of the local mills. He caused much laughter when he said that after he had worked a week he received the sum of $5.00 in his wages, and that he nearly dropped dead. He told them to stick together and that they would have the same success that he and his fellow workers had in the down river city.

All speakers addressed the meeting along the same line and during the entire meeting the noise and applause was terrific. In the entrance to the hall there was a list of contributions posted. At the close of the meeting the "Don't Be a Scab" badges were passed around and all the strikers had them attached to their coats. At the meeting last night the majority were men but the women were there in large numbers.

SIDNA EDWARDS, ONE OF THE VIRGINIA OUTLAWS

SIDNA EDWARDS ENTERING JAIL

ROANOK, Va., March 25.—Sidna Edwards, one of the Allen gang, who is in jail here, believes that the end of the man hunt is near and that the outlaws will soon be captured. He has expressed the opinion that the fugitives better give up, as there is no use in their prolonging the struggle that can end but one way. The men who are pursuing the desperadoes who "shot up" the Hillsville courthouse are as fearless as the men they are after, and their bravery has never been questioned. J. E. Mosby, a son of the famous Confederate raider, is one of the deputy sheriffs engaged in the hunt and J. W. Bin is another. Bin was one of the men who brought Sidna Edwards into town after his capture.

STRIKERS PARADE

STOPPED IN FRONT OF FACTO-
RIES AND CHIERED

NEWTON, March 25.—About 150 strikers at the Saxony worsted yarn mills in Newton formed a parade today and, carrying a large American flag, marched down the Charles river to Waterdown and Newton. The strikers stopped in front of two or three factories and cheered but were not joined by employees of other concerns.

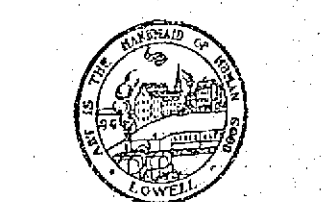

The employees of the Saxony mills struck yesterday in support of a demand for a higher pay schedule and the plant was closed. The mills employ about 700 operatives, most of whom are of foreign extraction.

OXFORD AND CAMBRIDGE VARSITY CREWS READY FOR ANNUAL RACE ON THE THAMES

LONDON, March 26.—The annual aquatic struggle between the rival eight oared crews of Oxford and Cambridge will be decided March 30 over the historic course on the river Thames from Putney to Mortlake. The contest promises to be exceedingly keen with the odds slightly in favor of the Dark Blues crew. The advantage of starting the rowing with almost a complete set time still to play, before the race, of finished oarsmen has manifested itself in either of the last three or last year's crew as nucleus for this year's boat the coaches were compelled to make several changes before balancing the boat. During the past two weeks the rowing has been much cleaner, the rhythm showing marked improvement. The recent improvement has led to the belief among the Camb followers that their favorites have a good nighting chance of success.

THE BODIES OF 232 VICTIMS OF THE MAINE NOW REPOSE IN NATIONAL CEMETERY

WASHINGTON, March 26.—One week after the bulk of the battleship Maine was given burial at sea the bones of sixty-six of the men who lost their lives when the vessel was destroyed in Havana harbor were buried in the Arlington National cemetery. President Taft, senators, representatives in congress, all the army and navy officers in Washington and 25,000 citizens took part in the funeral exercises. The remains of the sailors, six Spanish war veterans, were brought to Washington on the guard of honor, each caisson being drawn by six horses. Every flag in this city was at half mast, and the bells on many of the churches tolled as the procession moved up Pennsylvania avenue between lines of bareheaded citizens. Of the 263 who lost their lives in the sinking of the Maine 193 are now at rest in Arlington cemetery. Nineteen are buried at Key West and body of one officer, Lieutenant Philip W. Jenkins, lies at Allegheny, Pa., and that of another in an Iowa cemetery. Only seven are missing. No further effort will be made to find them.

that the loomfixers had not voted to strike, as was stated in the morning

In the morning papers. "The loom-fivers met last night," he said, "but did not take any vote on the strike question. It was an open meeting and what has appeared in the papers this morning is absolutely untrue." He has done as great justice, I hope The Sun will correct it."

No Trouble Anticipated

The city officials and police authorities do not anticipate any serious trouble in this strike. "We are fully prepared for whatever may come our way," said Supt. Redmond Welch of the police department, "but we are not looking for trouble. There will be no duplicate of the Lawrence trouble in Lowell. Conditions are different here and the operatives employed are not the same as those in the city down the river."

At the Merrimack

All is in normal condition in the vicinity of the Merrimack Mfg. Co., and a stranger would hardly know there is a strike. "We are fully prepared for whatever may come our way," said Supt. Redmond Welch of the police department, "but we are not looking for trouble. There will be no duplicate of the Lawrence trouble in Lowell. Conditions are different here and the operatives employed are not the same as those in the city down the river."

Tremont & Suffolk

At the Tremont & Suffolk mills the operatives left their work gradually from early morning, some refusing to work on account of not being satisfied with the schedule of wage increase, while others were forced to quit on account of the previous ones going out. There first was no disturbance. Then first they went out on complaint in the vicinity of the mill, but the police were soon on hand and without the least trouble dispersed them.

During the forenoon groups of strikers were frequently seen in the vicinity of Moody street between city hall and the mill. There was no discussion the situation, and no sign of anything being wrong. Many of the strikers are seen around the streets wearing a small label on either their coat or cap, bearing the inscription "Don't be a Scab."

Women Were Weeping

While the closing of the mills was not attended with spectacular demonstrations there was much to attract one's attention and absorb one's thoughts. The writer was talking with a mill agent when a group of women approached and addressed the agent. Three of the women were in tears and all of them said that they wanted to continue at work. They begged the agent to allow them to remain even after having themselves admitted that there was no work for them because of their strikers' action. One woman of the strike, The mill man sympathized with the poor women but he could not offer them any very great encouragement. "You know the strikers have so crippled the mills that it is useless for us to continue. We closed because we are obliged to," he was cried by her. That was true and then they wanted to know how long the plant would remain idle.

To this query the agent said: "It is impossible to tell."

"Will it be for a week?"

"Perhaps more."

"For what month?"

"I cannot say. It might be longer than a month, but I hope not."

price might have no reduction for the consumer. A study of comparative statistics seems to show that the English consumer buys cheaper because there is less profit between the mill and the retailer.

At the meeting of the board did not take into consideration the item of interest upon investments, but the cost figures do allow for depreciation.

"Taking all the mills covered by the investigation in each country, there were wider variations in the American costs secured than in the English costs, due partly to the fact that the English mills were of the Manchester type, where wages and other conditions are well standardized while the American costs were taken from mills covering a much wider area, with much greater differences in labor and other conditions. Another reason for the wider variation in American costs is that the English mills for velvet fabrics were secured are all of a modern and efficient type, while some of the American mills included were old and of lower efficiency."

Discussing duties in their relation to costs of weaving and finishing, the report says:

"The ratio of duty to the conversion cost is a little relative to the ratio of the duty to the foreign market value. Thus, in some cases, duties which are less than thirty per cent, ad valorem will be one and a half times the total American conversion cost while in other cases, duties of nearly fifty per cent, ad valorem will be only three-fourths of the American conversion cost. In the great majority of cases, the duties are greater than the total domestic costs of spinning and weaving."

"One of the most interesting results of the investigation is to be found in the facts included in the report regarding the different methods of distribution in the two countries, and the greater margin which exists between the price paid to the manufacturer for his goods and the price at which the consumer buys when in this country as compared with similar prices in England. The relation of the tariff to the prices paid by consumers can only be understood by fully comprehending the significance in American trade of the principle of free delivery."

The summary of the report is a large pamphlet and the full report probably will fill two to four volumes. The wool report filed first. It probably will be ordered printed by Congress.

"That's what cuts," said the mill man to the writer. "Those women have been here off and on, for years, and now they go their way, with idleness."

Shortly after the hour for starting, many of the employees of the mill came out and joined the strikers. Those coming out included weavers, nappers and the employees of No. 6 spinning mill in the company.
